PHINS 2021 webinar series: September-October 2021

As with last year, in 2021 we are hosting three online ‘webinars’ in place of the annual PHINS seminar. These will run from the end of September to mid-October.

The webinars focus on three important topics:

- the continuing impact, and legacy, of COVID-19 in terms of homelessness and mental health
- the commercial determinants of health
- approaches to addressing post-COVID societal inequalities: community wealth-building; and addressing climate change.

Each webinar will last one hour, comprising two 20-minute presentations, and 15 minutes of questions and discussion.

Note: each webinar is a separate event and therefore requires separate registration.

The dates are: Thursday 30th September, Thursday 7th October, and Thursday 21st October. All last one hour, commencing at 10am.

The details of each webinar are listed below.

If you would like to tweet about the webinars, we are using: #PHINS2021
